Our company, Atlantic Roll Forming, offers new possibilities to retailers serving the roofing and cladding market. Relying on our vast knowledge and international experience in the steel roofing and siding industry, we are setting new standards in meeting the practical and business needs of retailers throughout North America. From our newly constructed state-of-the-art manufacturing facility in New Brunswick, Canada, we offer a complete system of unique and innovative products for all types of projects requiring a distinctive look.

We will share our industry knowledge and expertise to the benefit of retailers, providing them with sales support and training to sell complete roofing and cladding systems. We are also assisting architects and engineers in finding the right products for their specific building requirements. Our strength relies in our ability of knowing which materials will look good and function best in various building applications and climate conditions.

Our commitment is to manufacture high-quality products and build lasting relationships by offering superior service and higher net margins to retailers. Selling our products also means better and faster service to clients in providing them with quotes, as our complete system calculates the same way as the traditional roofing method. Backed by a prorated 50 year transferable warranty, our products can be shipped anywhere in Canada and the United States.
